

Pipers Ready for Anson Tilt Friday

Hamlin Team in Good Condition to Face Last Non-Conference Contest of Season

Hamlin's Pied Pipers are said to be in excellent condition for the last non-conference game of the year, when the locals will meet the Anson Tigers in the county seat Friday night.

The Pipers have been put through some intensive drilling during the past two weeks, Coach Red Burditt said Wednesday, and they should be in first class shape for the tilt with the Tigers.

Coming from behind in an underdog role, the Pipers ran roughshod over the Spur Bulldogs two weeks ago to send the favorites home empty-handed. It was the Pipers' second victory in as many games.

Hamlin, with an inexperienced team, is rated the underdog in Friday night's contest, but Burditt warned his charges this week that "anything can happen."

Hamlin fans planning to attend the game will be given the entire east side of the grandstand, I. R. Hutchinson, superintendent, was informed this week.

Tickets for the game have been received here and are on sale at the high school office.

The Hamlin High School band will play for the game, Walter P. Walcraft, director, said. And, he added, it is his hopes that the band will be able to do some marching on the field at the half.

Assistant Coach Vernon Townsend said the starting lineup for the Pipers Friday night will be: Goodgame, left end; Jerry

Hamlin Gins Busy as Harvest Tempo Grows

Hamlin's two cotton gins have been processing cotton almost to capacity during the past few days, managers of the institutions reported Wednesday.

The accelerated tempo of ginning resulted from several days of good weather, during which time cotton farmers have put every available acre into the fields to gather the

A total of 529 bales had been ginned by the two establishments prior to Wednesday noon, and a total of 128 bales were ginned Tuesday, managers said.

Scarcity of labor in the cotton fields still plagued Hamlin area farmers this week, but the situation had been eased to some extent by the arrival of several trucks loaded with Mexican pickers.

Mighty Mice to Meet Merkel Next Tuesday

Hamlin's Mighty Mice, junior high grid team, is scheduled to play Merkel junior high school on Piper field next Tuesday evening, October 4, Coach Red Burditt said Thursday.

The Mice were slated to play Rotan on Hamlin field Thursday afternoon. A game was also slated between Hamlin's 5th and 6th graders and the grade team from Rotan, preceding the Mighty Mice contest.

Hamlin high school B team will meet Stamford on Piper field at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

Feagan Sr., vocational service; Dr. W. C. Weir, magazine service; J. C. Turner Jr., international service.

A series of inter-club programs will be given with committee chairmen directing the programs. Bowen Pope announced a break-down of the programs for his committee as follows: Safety, Elmo Bellah and Jake Lawson; resident youth work, O. T. Kelley and Jake Lawson; student loan, W. L. Hunter Jr.; crippled children, Tom Vaughan; rural and urban work, T. C. Blankenship.

VFW Requests Names Of Dead for Plaque

Names of men and women from Hamlin trade territory who lost their lives in either World War I or World War II was requested this week by D. A. McCoy, chairman of a VFW committee to gather such information.

The names are needed for completion of a plaque of honor hung in the lobby of Hamlin Memorial Hospital, McCoy said. It is the purpose of the VFW post to secure the name of every person whose life was lost in the wars, he said.

Persons who know of some individual whose name has not yet been put on the plaque are asked to notify McCoy, C. W. Gold or C. W. Huff.

Legion and VFW Plan Parade for Armistice Day

Plans for observance of Armistice Day November 11 were announced this week by the Hamlin posts of veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

Both posts will cooperate in a gigantic parade and memorial services on the morning of the day, it was announced.

The parade will be led by the Hamlin High School band and pep squad B. V. Newberry, high school principal, said. All ex-service men and women have been invited to join the parade.

D. A. McCoy, chairman of the VFW committee in charge of arrangements, said veterans will not be required to wear uniforms in the parade, but those who have them are requested to do so.

A speaker for the memorial service had not yet been secured when the announcement was made, but McCoy said Roger Garrett, county judge, will be asked to make the address again this year.

All stores and business houses in Hamlin will be asked to close for the celebration, which will take place during the morning hours.

Hamlin's Pied Pipers will go to Rotan the afternoon of November 11 for a conference football game, and McCoy said the local program will end in ample time for fans to make the trip to Rotan.

Annual Roll Call Set In October for Scouts

Annual roll call for Boy Scout work in Jones County will be conducted during the first and second weeks of October, it was decided at a meeting in Anson last Tuesday evening, with Rae Eastland, district commissioner, in charge.

Thirty leaders from Avoca, Hodges, Hawley, Hamlin, Stamford and Anson were present for the meeting. O. T. Kelley, Hamlin Cubmaster, was chairman for the discussion on cub scouting. The cub program is now available to boys 8, 9 and 10 years of age.

Harold Bonner of Hamlin and H. H. Dunklin of Avoca, neighborhood commissioners, demonstrated the national roll call procedure.

Teams to conduct roll call were briefed in a meeting in Stamford Tuesday night, Rae Eastland said.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Driggs are guests of relatives at Odessa this week.

Mrs. L. V. Gable is a guest of relatives in Lubbock this week.

Dean, Rowland and Cowan in Stellar Roles as McMurtry Whips Buffaloes

Brad Rowland of Hamlin ran wild, gaining 151 yards from scrimmage and scoring on a 56-yard run, as the McMurtry College Indians blasted the West Texas Buffaloes in an upset, 34 to 7 in Canyon last Saturday night.

McMurtry, defending Texas Conference champions, will play the University of Corpus Christi Saturday night in Corpus Christi. Last year McMurtry defeated UCC 39 to 12, but the Tarpons, an independent team, have a strengthened lineup this season.

An ambitious schedule will be continued next week with the Indians flying to Hattiesburg, Miss.

C. A. Booher of the Music Department, Texas Baptist Convention, will be in charge of a music school in the First Baptist Church of Hamlin beginning Monday evening, Oct. 3. The school will close Friday evening, Oct. 7. Classes will begin each evening at 7:30, Mendal Wharton, music director for the local church, said. The public is invited to attend.

A large fireproof, rainproof tent will be erected on the vacant lot one block east of the Hamlin Herald office for the show.

Texas Has a Total of 88,443 Miles Of Roads; F-M Road Work Pushed

Texas now has a total of 88,443 miles of passable roads of all types.

Most progress has been made in farm-to-market roads, 14,500 miles of which have been financed by the state highway department in conjunction with federal aid, since V-J Day.

The figures are from a survey taken by the Bureau of Public Roads at the direction of the United States Senate. Texas statisticians were compiled by the highway department in cooperation with county road officials.

Farm-to-market roads are located upon the recommendations of district engineers after conferences with county commissioners. Location is determined by the highway commission on the basis of need as these figures show:

Seventy-two per cent of farm-to-market roads carry school busses; 74 per cent carry mail routes; 24 per cent carry milk routes; and 37 per cent carry one or more of these services.

Other roads built under the farm-to-market program service oil fields and forest-lumber operations. When the present program of farm-to-market road construction is completed, the vast majority of farm dwellings will be within one mile of a paved road.

The state highway system as of August 31, 1949 included 39,096 miles of roads of all types, paved or financed for paving.

The counties have 1,606 miles of good miles of good paved roads and 9,226 miles of roads that have some kind of cover, varying from oil mix to surface treatment. The counties report 38,495 miles of gravel and soil-surface roads.

According to the latest available figures local road administration on the county level expended $45,500,000 in 1947. No division was shown between construction and maintenance.

Paying production from the King sand was encountered Tuesday night when the S. C. Herring Drilling Co., drilling a wildcat test on the Anderson tract six and one-half miles east of Hamlin, picked up pay at 3,062 feet.

The tool penetrated the pay zone only 10 feet, but a drillstem test run on the well recovered 3 1/2 barrels of oil in one hour.

The well was a joint venture of Herring, Sohio Oil Co., and Jones & Stasney.

Both of the other companies interested in the hole are planning to put down offsets to the discovery test immediately, it was learned Wednesday.

Sohio is planning an east offset to the discovery and Jones & Stasney will drill a west offset.

News of the discovery caused excitement among local oil men as it marked an east extension to already rich production to the west, north and south of Hamlin.

Oilmen said they believe the King sand production overlies the Swastika formation, and it is likely an early test will be made of lower formations.

Elkins Suffers Burns From Gasoline Blaze

W. C. Elkins suffered severe burns on both his hands Tuesday, when gasoline he was using to wash some machinery parts ignited.

Elkins said he had finished washing the parts and started to turn on an electric motor. He said a spark from the switch evidently caused the gasoline on his hands to ignite, inflicting painful burns.

Mrs. W. W. Green returned this week from Odessa where she had visited with relatives for several days.

The Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co. No. 4 Pardue-Toler came in about 9:30 Sunday evening and flowed on its own power for considerable time. The well, bottomed at 5,980 feet, produces from the Ellenburger.

No estimate on potential production was available Wednesday, but oil men said it is one of the best wells in the area.

Texas Pacific No. 5 Pardue was being completed Wednesday, but no report was available.

Texas Pacific moved in a rig on the Dickey Ferguson tract this week to drill an offset to the Pardue No. 5.

Atlantic Oil Company set surface pipe this week and began drilling a west offset to the Pardue No. 1. The well is slated to go to the Ellenburger.

South of Hamlin operators found pay Wednesday in the Ungren & Frazier No. 1 Godfrey. The production is from the Flippin sand at 2,780 feet. Formations in the well are said to run level with the Graham well.

A drillstem test run on the Godfrey well Wednesday night brought gas to the surface in 3 1/2 minutes, and oil flowed in 21 minutes. Operators said the well is "a good one."

Additional locations in the south Hamlin field, adjacent to the new well are expected to be made immediately to extend production.

In the Royston area Wood Drilling Co., moved in on the Bahan tract, owned by Harley Sadler, and prepared to begin drilling this week.

Mrs. W. B. Myers, Former Hamlinite, Died This Week

Funeral services were conducted at the University Baptist Church in Abilene at 3 p.m. Wednesday for Mrs. W. B. Myers, 76, former resident of Hamlin, who died in the home of her son, R. M. Myers of Sylvester at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Born near Stephenville, Oct. 24, 1873, the former Selma Edmona King was married to W. B. Myers in Cleburne. Later they moved to San Angelo, then to Coleman, and in 1936 they moved to Hamlin.

Myers died March 10, 1944, and since that time Mrs. Myers has made her home with her children.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. O. B. McDonald of Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. Jim Nichols of Corpus Christi; four sons, S. L. Myers of Rising Star, C. W. Myers of Seabrook, H. L. Myers of Graham, and R. M. Myers of Sylvester. One sister, Mrs. E. G. Jones of Albuquerque, N. M., and several grandchildren.

Rev. Sterling Price, pastor of the University Baptist Church, officiated at the rites.

Burial was in Cedar Hill Cemetery in Abilene.

One Hour of Freedom For Four Weeks Work

J. D. Foster, 50-year-old convicted burglar, enjoyed only one hour of freedom last Thursday night, after he had spent four weeks in laboriously sawing his way out of the Jones County jail.

Foster, who was sentenced to seven years in state prison on conviction of having burglarized the Texaco warehouse in Hamlin, was recaptured near the river bridge at Albany by highway patrolmen.

The prisoner sawed a hole about 18 inches square in the dining room wall adjacent to the prisoners' run-around in front of the cells. Squeezing through the opening he hid in a broom closet and later pried the screen off a window in a washroom and emerged to his short lived freedom.

Child Gets Fractured Leg at Oil Well Play

Jackie Wasson, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wasson, suffered a fracture of his leg late last Saturday when he was injured while playing at an oil rig near Hamlin.

The child had accompanied his father, employee of a geophysical firm, to the well, and was climbing onto some stacked pipe. One of the pipes slipped and fell on his leg. He was given treatment at the Hamlin Memorial Hospital.

This Is Americanism

Reckless and careless use of the word has caused many Americans to forget the richness of meaning and the lofty ideals bound up in the term, Americanism.

Coined by the inventiveness of imaginative Americans, the word does far more than describe the characteristics of the inhabitants of this land of ours.

Not a political philosophy, yet the ideals of Americanism have shaped many of the innovations in human freedom given birth in this, our America. More than a political philosophy, Americanism is a way of life—a way peculiar to a people who loved liberty dearly and believed profoundly in the dignity of man.

Within the meaning of the word it would not be fitting for me to say, "I am as good as you," rather I would be impelled to the statement that "You are as good as I."

The principles of Americanism which inspired the penning of that deathless phrase, "that all men are created free and equal, and are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights," would also prohibit the abridgment of the least of those rights. It would require that the right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," be not denied to the most humble of citizens, whatever his race, his creed, or his color.

Americanism recognizes God as the Creator, man as the creature, and government as the servant of both. It cannot remain Americanism when the government becomes master and the individual becomes dependent upon that government for rights which are his by Divine decree.

Americanism embraces not only the ideals of Jefferson, but the ruggedness of Jackson, the humanness of Lincoln and the aggressiveness of Theodore Roosevelt.

Expressed in man on the street language, Americanism grants to me right to gauge Americanism grants to me the right to know poverty, and to you the right to accumulate wealth. It gives me the privilege of working out my own economic destiny without undue interference by government bureaucrats, however benevolent their purpose may be.

Americanism protects for me my inherent right to criticize those in high places, and it gives to you the privilege of voicing opposition to beliefs held vital by me. It entails my right to worship God in the way dictated by my own conscience, and it guarantees at the same time your right to deny, if you will, the very existence of God.

Americanism is the system which makes available to all Americans those intangible liberties which too many of us have come to take for granted. And yet, within the broad scope of this word there exists no room for intolerance nor for prejudices against any minority.

Your right to be different from the masses is held as sacred as is my right to be a conformist under the encompassing provisions of this thing we call Americanism.

It includes all the yearnings of enslaved mankind in his long struggle against oppression. Faintly it carries echoes of the victory wrung from the reluctant hand of King John by freemen in 1215, and clearly within its scope is the ideals which caused the framing of our own Declaration of Independence.

Americanism is not decadent, it is progressive, vibrant and living. It shall continue to inspire and to guide our land as long as we, the people, retain a vestige of the ideals upon which our freedoms are founded.

Because of its importance and the meaning which has for us, it would well for us once more with hands over our hearts to join in the schoolchild chorus which recites those simple but meaningful words: "I pledge allegiance to the flag . . . and to the republic for which it stands. One nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Every man will have something to do for his friend, and something to bear with in him. Only the sober man can do the first; and the latter, patience is requisite.—Fellham

Putting the Boot to Prosperity

Detroit Housing Project Example Of Inequity Existing in Subsidies

By GEORGE PECK

Accompanied by pictures a communique from a disgruntled Detroit taxpayer has just reached me. Sorry I can't pass the pictures along to my readers but I can quote parts of the letter which read as follows:

Dear Friend Peck: Will you please take a look at the enclosed pictures and bear with me through this long letter? The big picture is Parkside, Detroit—Public Housing Project. There a small portion of Detroit's half million families enjoy the security of comfortable, modern, subsidized housing. It was built in 1938 and 1941 by the taxpayers at a cost of six million dollars. It nestles within the shadows of beautiful Chandler Park and these fortunate families enjoy the use of an eighteen hole golf course, tennis courts, wading pools and acres of picnic grounds. Truly this is gracious living at its best.

Each of the families these has been carefully selected by the Detroit Housing Commission from thousands of applicants. Each is provided with space to fit his needs and some have as many as six rooms. Each family has a private bath, electric refrigerator, and range, and steam heat is supplied from a central heating plant, thus eliminating the drudgery of handling coal and ashes. Lawnmowers, garden tools, grass seed and fertilizer are furnished free to those families who care to improve their yards.

Without the generous subsidies and tax exemptions made possible by me and my fellow citizens of Detroit, these homes would be beyond the reach of most Detroit families. But there, at least in Parkside, a FEW families may enjoy fine subsidized living. Eligible families contribute as little as $17.00 per month toward the cost of this housing regardless of the number of rooms occupied. However, nearly half of the families living in these ivy-covered walls are over-income families and thus ineligible for subsidized housing. Just think of it some of them must pay as high as $57.50 per month, which also includes all utilities.

Parkside families are indeed happy families—particular the over-income families. During their ten year residence at Parkside some of them have seen their incomes soar as high as $8,000 or $9,000, but few deserted Parkside. Instead, they have preferred to stay on, to enjoy subsidized housing and to use their rent savings to buy the better things in life.

Unfortunately, only a few select families can enjoy subsidized housing, because subsidies by their very nature must be paid for by MANY but enjoyed by FEW. But Parkside stands as a monument to the generosity and unselfishness of the half million Detroit families—rich and poor—who are shouldering the burden of increased taxes so that a FEW may enjoy a better life. Of this my city may well be proud because rare indeed is the citizen who is willing to contribute his efforts so that others may live better than he.

Now please take a look at the other picture. In the Quonset Huts across the way from Parkside is where Veterans of World War II are living. Many of these Vets are looking forward to the day when they can afford a home of their own. Perhaps not as desirable as Parkside but at least a home of their own where one-third of their payments will go for real estate taxes. In the meantime they are content to pay $25.00 a month for the privilege of living in these steel-lined foxholes while their more fortunate neighbors across the street enjoy the luxury of tax-free subsidized homes.

Undoubtedly in your city you have counterparts of Parkside and many more under construction, and you too, can point with pride to the fine home your taxes are providing for some happy couple or family. Homes perhaps much better than you can afford.

For this you may think your Congressmen because they have unselfishly pledged a large portion of your income so that FEW may enjoy these high quality homes at your expense.

Never before, perhaps, has a Government taken so MUCH from so MANY to give to so FEW.

Round dealing is the honor of man's nature; and a mixture of falsehood is like alloy in gold and silver, which may make the metal work the better, but it embaseth it.

Government Control Is First Step Toward Complete Loss of Liberty

By DeWITT EMERY

In his new book "The Power in the People" Felix Morley makes the interesting point that it is entirely possible for a government established to secure the blessings of Liberty to actually produce the damnation of tyranny and he goes on to say:

"Indeed, that unexpected and generally undesired outcome is probable whenever democratic processes place representative government in the hands of men willing to exploit ignorance in order to further the centralization of power. The danger is the greater because there may be no sincerity whatsoever in popular failure to mark the line of demarcation between liberty and tyranny. The effect, the common indifference to what history has to teach the common assumption that one man's opinion is automatically as good as another's are together sufficient to explain why people seeking liberty none the less often support measures leading in exactly the opposite direction.

That's really laying it on the line and is a good summation of what has been happening in this country for a number of years as most of us can prove for ourselves of our own experience.

A business man, for example, who will compare the way business is done in this country today with the way it was done fifteen years ago can't help realize that few more years of travel down the same road will entirely eliminate freedom of enterprise from the American scene.

In this connection it is well to remember that if we ever lose freedom of enterprise, economic freedom if you prefer, we'll also lose freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of the press, freedom of religion and so on. All of our freedoms are wrapped up in the same package.

Farmers can make the same comparison with the same result that in their case there is only a very short distance yet to go before full been reached. There isn't room for a free man to stand up between a floor under prices and a ceiling on production.

The sad part of this is that every time the American people have had a clear cut issue presented to them on centralized control — national socialism — versus free enterprise they have voted overwhelmingly for free enterprise.

The great difficulty here is that it has been many years since a clear cut issue was presented to the American people. We have had two political parties during all these years, both having the same concept of government with the copycats promising to do a better job than the originators.

If this is true, what we need then in the fifty-two elections is sets of candidates, one set vigorously and openly supporting the everything and everybody centralized in the Federal Government, and the other set just as vigorously and just as openly advocating Constitutional Governmental and freedom of enterprise.

That definitely is what we need. I wonder what we'll get.

Wheat and oats advanced slightly, as milo dropped 16 cents a hundred pounds and other grains lost 1 to 3 cents a bushel. No. 2 yellow milo closed Monday at $2.05 to $2.10, basis Texas common points. No. 1 hard wheat brought $2.33 to $2.39. Rice markets held barely steady last week, as large amounts moved into storage. Demand for mixed feeds improved, and some feed-stuffs strengthened as others declined. Prairie hay prices moved upward on limited supplies, while alfalfa showed little change. Peanuts held steady, but peanut oil and meal sold lower.

Pork loins dropped $11 to $12 for the week, and most other meats $1 to $4. Livestock marketings continued about as heavy last week as the week before.

Monday's prices on cattle and calves were steady to $1 higher than a week earlier at Texas and Oklahoma markets, except that all calves lost 50 cents to $1 at San Antonio and stocker calves dropped that amount at Oklahoma City. Cattle and calves registered losses ranging from 50 cents to $1.50 at Denver.

Butcher hogs and sows lost around $1, more or less, at all the southwest markets during the past week. Pigs shared the loss at Oklahoma City but held steady at Texas markets. Top butchers closed Monday at $20 at Fort Worth and Oklahoma City.

Texas and Oklahoma sheep markets saw little change during the week. Ewes sold a little higher at Denver. Mature goats held about unchanged at San Antonio. Kids gained about $1 or more per head, to sell mostly at $4 to $5, a few Spanish at $5.75.

Southwest egg and poultry markets strengthened slightly early last week, and have held firm since. Best candled white eggs sold mostly around 60 cents a dozen, and mixed colors 50 to 55 cents. New Orleans paid 57 to 60. Heavy hens brought 24 to 26 cents in North Texas, and 30 to 33 at New Orleans. North Texas markets quoted No. 1 young turkeys from 30 to 35 cents.

Most southwest cotton markets closed Monday 50 cents to $1 a bale lower than a week earlier. Spot middling 15-16 inch sold at 28.95 cents a pound at Dallas, 29.20 at Houston, and 29.75 at New Orleans.

Central West Texas Fair to Open October 6! Records to Be Broken

The entire citizenship of Haskell prepared this week to swing out the welcome sign for the thousands of visitors expected to attend the twenty-first Central West Texas Fair on October 6-8.

Fair officials and department heads have been busy during the week listing advance entries and they predict that exhibits will be on a larger scale than ever before. Every exhibit space will be filled by opening date, officials declare. The exposition will officially open at noon on Thursday, Oct. 6 with a mammoth parade that will wind through the city's business section and to the fairgrounds. Sections in the parade will include a number of high school bands and pep squads and at least two major college bands.

Decorated floats, clowns and gaily decorated bicycles, junior and old timer cowboys and cowgirls, school stunts and other carnival attractions will make the parade the most colorful in the fair's history.

Opening day has been designated as School Children Day, and pupils of the area's schools will be admitted to the grounds free on Thursday afternoon.

Expected to attract wide attention is the farm implement, auto and commercial exhibit show, which has been enlarged this year.

Fun and entertainment will be featured this year. The climax will be reached on Saturday night when a young couple will be married on the grounds in Haskell's first public wedding.

The fair association is arranging every detail, including the ring, license and wedding music. The identity of the couple will remain a mystery until the last minute, and a bridal shower is planned by Haskell merchants who will give several hundred dollars in wedding gifts. Attendance prizes will be given on Thursday and Friday evenings, with an old-time square dance planned each night.

On the midway will be the largest carnival attraction playing this area this season. New thrills, rides and shows will be featured by the Victory Exposition Shows who will open to the public on Monday October 3.

Elmer G. Johnson, President of Harlingen State Bank, Harlingen, Texas, writes, on February 20, 1948: "Please send another bottle of Liquid Garlic, also send a bottle to my sister-in-law, Mrs. Hulda C. Dutton, 45 Atwater Terrace, Springfield, Massachusetts.

"I have some good reports to make on the effectiveness of garlic used. Mr. Turner, Texaco dealer here has taken two bottles and is much better, his blood pressure down about 60 points. Mrs. W. F. Nelson, of San Benito, who was in bad shape, is also very much better and her blood pressure down considerably. This Garlic works, and you are doing a fine job of producing it for benefit of those suffering from high blood pressure or heart trouble."

Mrs. Bill Harbert, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Her corsage was of Picardy gladioluses. G. H. Cameron, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man. Bill Harbert served as usher.

Rules Are Given For Securing of Mexican Pickers

Rules and regulations for obtaining Mexican nationals for cotton picking in the United States have been compiled by the office of the Texas Employment Commission, and are available to farmers who desire such labor in their cotton harvest.

The rules have been devised from a study of conditions, with officials of the employment commission and Mexican government officials working together. The rules are designed to protect the workers and to insure that they will return to their native land when employment is finished.

Farmers seeking such labor must first file with the local office of the TEC an order covering number of workers desired in a given community.

Cash bonds of varying sums must be posted to insure proper treatment of the laborers, and that they will be returned to Mexico at the close of the harvest season.

Trucks for hauling the pickers must meet certain specifications, and specific rules have been devised to cover transportation of the workers.

Additional information on the problem may be obtained from the office of Bill Lehmborg, county agent, in Anson.

Hamlin FFA Chapter Exhibits at WT Fair

An educational booth will be installed at the West Texas Fair in Abilene this week by members of the FFA chapter of Hamlin High School. It was decided at a meeting of the group last week.

Twenty five new members were added to the rolls, to make a total of 62 members for the Hamlin chapter.

Plans for raising money for the local group were discussed, and it was voted to sell Christmas cards.

Defoliation of Cotton Plants Is Recommended

Defoliation of cotton plants for increased production, and greater ease in harvesting, was advocated this week by Bill Lehmborg, county agent, who quoted information provided by the Texas A&M College.

Lehmborg said defoliation of cotton by chemical process is a practice of comparatively recent development, but it is coming into favor among both cotton farmers and gin officials.

Some advantages of defoliation, Lehmborg said, are: a higher grade of fiber due to the elimination of leaf stain; harvest of a higher percentage of cotton with less trash residue; in wet years it will reduce the rotting of bolls by opening up the plants so the sun can open the bolls.

Defoliation reduces the plant food of the late boll weevil and other cotton insects, and makes harvest easier for the pickers.

Cost of the treatment was listed as one of the disadvantages of defoliation, together with the fact that if harvesting is delayed, new leaves will form.

Lehmborg said the extension service recommends the use of finely ground calcium cyanamid, which will give food defoliation in the presence of high humidity and dew.

The dust should be applied at the rate of 30 to 35 pounds per acre, and may be applied either by planes or by ground dusting machines. The machines should have large enough fans to force the chemical through all nozzles at the rate of at least 30 pounds per acre.

Application should be made at an hour when the maximum amount will adhere to the leaves. This will usually be early in the morning or late in the afternoon.

Further information on the subject may be obtained from the office of the county agent, Lehmborg said.
